STEP 1 · THE ALERT

GET THE ALERT ON TELEGRAM

This is how every alert arrives: one bet, ready to look up.

- 1 One bet per message about 5 seconds after the price drops.
- 2 Only strong drops at the reference bookmaker, the best estimate of the true probability.
- 3 With a button to open it on the web, check the value and track it.

STEP 1 · READING IT

HOW TO READ THE ALERT

Each line answers a question: what, where and at what price.

STEP 2 · FIND THE BET

FIND THE SAME BET AT YOUR BOOKMAKER

Everything has to match: change one piece and it's a different bet.

- ✓ Same match
- ✓ Same market
- ✓ Same period: full game, 1st half, 1st set...
- ✓ Same line: -3.5 is not -4

🕒 Move fast: recreational bookmakers are slow to react, but they get there. Value usually lasts minutes.

STEP 3 · CHECK THE VALUE

CHECK THE VALUE

Type your bookmaker's price: the web does the maths for you.

$$\text{EV} = \text{your odds} \times \text{fair probability} - 1$$
$$2.10 \times 50.8\% - 1 = +6.6\%$$

Value only if your price is higher than the fair one (1.97).

No value if your bookmaker has already cut it below the fair price: let it go.

STEP 5 • MEASURE

MEASURE ALERTS AGAINST THE CLOSE

The closing price is the most reliable proof that an alert is worth anything.

- 1 CLV compares the price you took with the fair closing price, just before kick-off.
- 2 In the long run if you beat the close consistently, you make money.
- 3 By segment sport, market, full game or periods and size of the drop.

GOOD HABITS

GOOD HABITS

Six habits that separate betting with a plan from betting blind.

ONLY WITH POSITIVE EV

If your price doesn't beat the fair one, don't bet.

SMALL FIXED STAKE

For example, 1% of your bankroll per bet.

CHECK THE «MAX»

With low limits, a drop means less.

MOVE FAST

Value lasts minutes: bookmakers end up moving.

DON'T CHASE LOSSES

Don't raise your stake to win it back.

TRACK EVERYTHING

Without data you won't know if you're winning.

18+ only. If it stops being fun, stop.
